The Sixth Annual Arts Forum, March 17, 18, and 19, will again feature student creative work in the fields of music, drama, writing, dance and visual arts.

Since its beginning in 1943, the Arts Forum, designed to promote understanding and appreciation by bringing together professionally and informally, students, teachers, and leaders in the various fields of art, has continued to expand in size and scope, providing expert criticism and guidance to young artists from many colleges and universities.

Experts who will participate in the Forum this year include:

Mr. Henry Cowell, a noted pianist, composer of orchestral and pianistic music, critic and lecturer. He has been lecturer in music at Sanford University, Bennington College, and Mills College. He has served as music director for the New School of Social Research for a number of years and also as consultant for the music division of the Pan-American Union. Mr. Cowell, recipient of a Guggenheim Fellowship, is author of two books, New Musical Resources and The Nature of Melody. He edited American Composers and American Music, a Symposium.

Critic and teacher of drama. Mr. Walter Prichard Eaton, who has served as dramatic critic for the New York Tribune, the New York Sun, and the American Magazine. Formerly professor of play-writing at the Yale School of Drama. Mr. Eaton has this year been visiting professor at Chapel Hill. He is a member of the National Institute of Arts and Letters and the author of a number of books, including The Actor's Heritage, The Drama in English, Plays and Players, and Ten Years of the Theatre Guild.

Mr. Louis Horst, composer of music for the dance, critic, and teacher, was principal musician for the Dennishawn Group. He has been composer of music for the principal music adviser to Martha Graham, has conducted orchestra for Miss Graham's concerts, and has taught choreography and musical camp for dance at Bennington College, and at the Graham Studios. He is editor of the leading dance magazine, Dance Observer, and author of Pre-Classical Dance Forms.

Jean Stafford, novelist, and Peter Taylor, short-story writer, will lead the writing panel in discussion of fiction, rather than Katherine Anne Porter as was previously announced.

Mr. Taylor and Miss Stafford will appear on the panel with Richard Wilbur, who is to criticize student poetry. Mr. Wilbur, considered one of the most promising young American poets, published his first volume of verse in 1947 at the age of twenty-six. Many of the poems in the collection Beautiful Changes and Other Poems were published previously in leading literary magazines. David Daiches in the January 10, 1948, issue of Saturday Review of Literature said that "Mr. Wilbur is on the right track and is working his way towards impressive poetry."

Jean Stafford, novelist and short-story writer, is a graduate of the University of Colorado and has taught at Stephens and Queens Colleges. To date she has published two novels, Boston Adventure and The Mountain Lion. Her stories appear regularly in leading periodicals. Miss Stafford has worked under a Guggenheim Fellowship for two years.

Peter Taylor, former member of the English faculty and instructor of writing, at Woman's College, is now teaching writing at the University of Indiana. After two years on the faculty here, Mr. Taylor went to Indiana last year to form a writing section in the curriculum there. Mr. Taylor's stories have been appearing in the major literary quarterlies for a number of years. Portions of his novellette are now being published in The New Yorker and in Harper's. Mr. Taylor, a graduate of Kenyon College, came to Woman's College for his first year of teaching after service in the U. S. Army.

Mr. James Johnson Sweeney, critic, lecturer, and author, noted in the fields of painting and sculpture, has been director of the department of painting and sculpture of the Museum of Modern Art and lecturer on fine arts at New York University. He has also directed exhibitions of twentieth century painting and sculpture at the University of Chicago; and of African Negro Art, and showings of the paintings of Joan Miro, the sculpture of Alexander Calder and of Alfred Steiglitz at the Museum of Modern Art. Mr. Sweeney is associate editor of Transition and author of books on Alexander Calder, Stuart Davis, Henry Moore, Marc Chalfale, Georgia O'Keefe, Joan Miro, and Alfred Steiglitz.

According to the tentative schedule, the Forum opens on the morning of Thursday, March 17, with a discussion of sculpture by Mr. Sweeney. Thursday afternoon Mr. Taylor and Miss Stafford will lead criticism of student writing published in the Arts Forum edition of the Coraddi. Friday morning Mr. Eaton will discuss the writing and production of the three student plays presented Thursday night.

Other Friday events will include a performance of student choreography, with a discussion by Mr. Horst, a dance concert by visiting groups, and a concert of student works to be criticized by Mr. Cowell.

The Greensboro Orchestra and the Chamber Music Players will appear in concert Saturday night, concluding the Forum. In addition to public appearances, leaders, during the three-day period, will conduct classes and conferences with various groups of students.

During the Forum, contemporary American sculpture and student work from undergraduate, graduate, and professional schools will be exhibited. Woman's College student photography will also be displayed.

Faculty members on the Forum staff include Mr. Charles Adams, college librarian; Dean Hugh Altwater, of the School of Music; Miss Kathryn England, drama professor; Miss Ione Grogan, counselor; Mr. Gregory D. Ivy, department of art; Miss Ethel Martus, department of physical education; Miss Virginia Moomaw, also of the department of physical education; Dr. Anna Joyce Reardon, department of physics; Miss Katherine Taylor, Dean of Woman; Miss Elvira Prondecki, counselor; Mr. W. Raymond Taylor, drama; Mr. George M. Thompson, School of Music; Miss Helen Thrush, art; Mr. Elliot Weisgarber, School of Music; and Dr. Marc Friedlaender, chairman, of the department of English.

The student committee includes Frances Barwick, Lydia James, Natalie Bates, Dolly Davis, Helen Mamber, Beth Clapp, Ann Wall, Ann Chipley, Sarah Denny, Winnie Rodgers, Evelyn DeWitt, Ellen Metz, and Margaret Spencer, secretary.

Mary White Scott is First Lady of North Carolina

By A. A. Wilkinson, Director of News Bureau

When an alumna changes her address, the Alumnae Office of the Woman's College is always interested, and topping in interest the list of recent changes of address to be noted by the office is that of Mrs. Mary White Scott, Class of '20, from Haw River, N. C., to the Governor's Mansion, Raleigh, N. C.

When one of her daughters takes over the role of the First Lady of North Carolina, or any other high office, the Woman's College naturally is very proud, but not surprised. For many years alumnae like Mary White Scott have filled positions of prominence, responsibility, and leadership.

As the wife of Governor W. Kerr Scott, the State's newest chief executive, Mary White Scott for the next four years will preside over the gubernatorial household and social affairs with the same modesty and efficiency for which she has long been known by her friends and neighbors. Nor will she be a stranger to Raleigh, for her husband for several years was Commissioner of Agriculture for the State and she had frequent occasion to become familiar with the administrative and legislative life at the State Capital.

Aside from the fact that as the wife of the Governor she is a very special and unique person, Mary White Scott can be regarded from many points of view as an ideal North Carolina wife and mother. Her highly successful home and her healthy, active family attest to this. She has been quite as successful in her field as her husband has been as a dairy farmer, business man, and public official.

After leaving Woman's College, she taught school for a year. She gave up schoolroom duties to marry her girlhood sweetheart, Kerr Scott, on July 2, 1919, shortly after he had returned from World War I. The Scotts built a seven-room house on their 225-acre farm, both of which, along with their family, increased substantially during the subsequent years. The house has been added to considerably, and the farm, known as Melville Dairy Farm now, extends over 1,300 acres. From the furnishings within to the flower gardens without, the home reveals Mrs. Scott's love of order, comfort, and beauty. It is a home that bespeaks love and contentment, and it isn't too much to predict that the sixty miles from the Governor's Mansion in Raleigh to Melville Farms will be frequently travelled by the Scotts during the ensuing four years.

Governor and Mrs. Scott have three children, Osborne Scott, who attended N. C. State College and will bear most of the burden of operating the family farm while Governor Scott is in Raleigh; Robert Scott, a pre-medical student at Duke, and Mrs. A. J. Lowdermilk, formerly Mary Kerr Scott, Woman's College, '41, of Akron, Ohio. And there's a five-year-old granddaughter, Mr. and Mrs. Lowdermilk's daughter.

During the strenuous political campaign of 1947 Mrs. Scott was an indefatigable campaigner with her husband. She accompanied him on numerous tours and partook with him of countless dinners and luncheons, met thousands of North Carolinians.

No new governor in recent generations has attracted more attention than W. Kerr Scott. He has vigorously espoused a broad program of service to the people of the State, particularly with regard to good roads and education. He is the first governor of North Carolina since well back in the last century who hasn't been a lawyer. He has undertaken a program that will be as strenuous on him as it is to be extensive in its effect on the State. Mrs. Scott knows just what is to be her first responsibility during the years ahead. "My duty," she declares, "is to keep the Governor healthy, happy, and at his best."

MISS MARY LOIS FERRELL

Mary Lois Ferrell, who had been a member of the School of Music at Woman's College since 1922, fell asleep on Sunday night, December 19, 1948, after an illness which had been progressively painful and confining.

If it is true that some people were born to do a given work, then Miss Ferrell was born to teach music in such a way that her pupils would continue her work long after she had met her last pupil. She studied at Meredith College in Raleigh, at Northwestern in Chicago, Ill., and studied as a private pupil of Ernest Hutcheson in New York and Emil Lauer in Vienna, Austria, but she was born in a family which had made great contributions to education in North Carolina and had an innate knowledge of the beautiful things which came before any of her training.

To those who had the privilege of studying with her during the twenty-six years she taught at Woman's College, she was more than a teacher of piano. Teacher of piano she was to such a degree that each student began building anew on the great fundamentals of the art when first the visits to her studio began, and then each addition of progress was laid carefully and thoroughly toward the realization of the beautiful edifice which housed Music. Yet this training in the Art was only a part of what Miss Ferrell gave each of her girls, which was an intangible guidance toward other Fine Arts which later enriched the life of each of them.

With the beginning of the first semester of the current college year Miss Ferrell resumed her classes and continued to go to her studio as long as her strength permitted. Later, her pupils went to her home for instruction, and even in the final weeks she continued to teach her Seniors.

Miss Ferrell made a rich contribution to the musical life of the campus and Greensboro as a recitalist. Other pianists might concentrate on virtuosity; Miss Ferrell concentrated on the poetry contained in the music. In the Wade R. Brown Series as a soloist and member of ensembles, in two piano programs with Miss Aleine Minor, and in the various chamber music ensembles with other members of the faculty she gave richly to the capacity audiences which heard her recitals. For a great number of years she took an active part in programs presented by the Euterpe Club, and at one time was an officer in the club.

She will be greatly missed by those who knew her as a friend and as a talented hostess. But very few people have the ability she had to efface herself completely in anticipating the needs and pleasures of others. A group of friends met at her home one Sunday afternoon a year ago in September, just before the opening of the college year, and after a delightful visit during which Miss Ferrell and Miss Minor made each guest feel that he or she enjoyed the impromptu visit to the fullest, went home happy and eager for the year's work. Within forty-eight hours those guests learned that after the last of them departed, Miss Ferrell took her already-packed bags and went to the hospital for the scheduled critical operation. Such thoughtful lovingly concern for the comfort and happiness of others marked her entire life.

With her going, Woman's College has lost a remarkable teacher, pianist and friend.

TO M. L. F.*

When first they told me you were gone, I grieved
That never more your smile would warm me
While you asked of how it was with mine;
That never more your hands would draw the Music from the white and ebon keys;

And yet, remembering all the things you taught
Through years of loving tutelage
To play with heart and mind and hand what
Each composer wrote on every lined page,
And in the playing seek perfection,

Then I knew that you had ended just the years
Of study in the school which our dear Lord
Taught from His own cross on Calvary,
And now, your arduous training passed,
You make your debut before God.

New Library Building at Woman's College

Minnie M. Hussey '30
Marjorie Hood '26

On September 24, 1948, Walker Avenue was closed from Forest Street to McIver Street. Three days later Dr. Jackson broke ground for the new library building. This brief ceremony was held in the middle of Walker Avenue between Forest Street and the bridge. Since that date students and faculty have watched with interest the bulldozer as it piled great mounds of dirt in front of South Spencer, and the pouring of concrete. During the Christmas holidays bright orange steel girders appeared and the sound of riveting is heard more and more frequently. As steel construction appears it is easier to visualize just how large the building is going to be. Facing the bridge, it stretches from approximately 60 feet of South Spencer and to within the same distance of the Infirmary.

The building has been designed by the architectural firm of Northrup and O'Brien, Winston-Salem, N. C., which will supervise its construction. This firm has also developed a new plan for the campus, involving a large building program of which the library is the first major unit. The exterior architecture reflects the traditional pattern already established in other buildings on the campus. Sand-finish colonial face brick and Georgia marble are the principal exterior materials.

The library will consist of three complete floors and a smaller fourth floor above the central sections of the building. On the ground floor there will be a small lecture hall seating approximately 350 people, a student lounge, faculty studies, carrels for individual study, and stack area for shelving a large per cent of the book collection. The first floor as in the present building will include reference room, periodicals room, charging desk, public catalog, offices for the librarian and other members of the staff. Space on the second floor will be divided between reserve rooms for freshmen and upperclassmen, a room for general reading, which is intended as an expansion of the present recreational reading room, soundproof areas for radio, phonograph, and other audio-visual materials, seminar rooms, staff lounge and study areas in the stacks. The smaller fourth floor will be given over to stacks, carrels, seminar rooms, College Collection, Woman's Collection and other special materials.

Plans for the building were based on the following general considerations: (1) flexibility; (2) administration by a relatively small professional staff; (3) space priority to public services and staff work areas; (4) stacks designed for work as well as storage. The interior is constructed so that changes required by new teaching methods, or by different ideas of the functions of the library, could be made with as little expense as possible.

Much thought has been given to the use of color, the problem of lighting and the choice of furniture that will be both attractive and durable. The first-floor vestibule walls are to be of Loreda Chiaro marble, and the main lobby walls of a rift-sawn oak, limed finish. Colored walls will be used in the reading rooms throughout the building. Fluorescent lighting is to be used throughout the building with minor exceptions. It is planned to obtain good reflective values through the use of light-colored furniture and the green terrazzo floors. Selection of furniture is incomplete, but preliminary specifications call for occasional chairs near the windows in the reserve rooms and for an informal grouping of tables and chairs in the reference and periodicals rooms as well as in the general reading room.

In the new building the library will be able to provide special services to readers which, because of limited space, are not possible in the present building. These services will include: (1) carrels throughout the stacks where students may do serious work undisturbed; (2) an attractively furnished alcove in the main lobby for the display of new books; (3) a room where bibliographical material may be used by readers and is equally convenient to the staff in the reference, catalog and order departments; (4) soundproof rooms for listening to radio and phonograph records and for viewing films and slides; (5) faculty studies; (6) seminar rooms where groups may meet for discussion or for examining library materials; (7) small lecture hall for book talks and other college meetings; (8) student lounge, and (9) staff kitchenette.

Plans for the library represent the combined thought and work not only of the architects but also of the library staff and the faculty library committee. Questionnaires on certain needs and policies were sent to the whole faculty, and preliminary drawings were made numerous times. When the doors of the new building are opened officially sometime in 1950 Woman's College will realize the consummation of plans begun more than ten years ago.

Plans for a dinner Tuesday, May 17, to honor Chancellor W. C. Jackson who is retiring July 1, 1949, are being made as the Alumnae News goes to press. Miss Jane Summerell is chairman of the Alumnae Committee and notices with reservation blanks will be sent out in April.

Many Alumnae are contributing to the Chapel Fund in honor of Dr. Jackson and a report of the amount received will be made at the dinner.

Completion of the Chapel Fund is one of our Chancellor's fondest dreams and this is our opportunity to help make that dream come true.

Letter from Our President

Dear Alumnae:

In this issue you will find the list of candidates for president, second vice-president, and four board members.

You will see that we have also included pictures and sketches. This is admittedly done to attract your interest and to help you recognize old friends and college mates.

You see, we want you to be a vital part of this Alumnae Association, and you cannot be a vital part of it unless you are an active member—one who has made or makes a contribution of at least $2 in the period from May 1, 1948, to April 30, 1949, and who casts her vote election month. We all agree that our association can only be as effective as your interest allows, so prove your interest by studying the candidates and casting your ballot. It is not fair to those who have accepted nominations to turn in a vote of a few hundred to elect one or the other candidate for president, for instance. The incoming president needs to have your confidence and your assistance.

Be on the alert for your ballot May 1, mark it at once, and return to the Alumnae Office. We would feel elated to have a really representative return this year.

I hope you all had a joyous holiday season, and may 1949 bring each of you peace and happiness.

Sincerely,

Frances Gibson Lottersfield
281

President Woman's College Alumnae Association.

Suggestions?

So many things are happening at Woman's College that in the limited space we have, it is very difficult to tell you everything we know you want to know.

If there are particular fields or departments or subjects which you would like to have covered in the News, do let us hear from you.

Alumnae Day, May 28, 1949. Everybody will be looking for you.

Miss Riddick Is Named Chief Clerk

The North Carolina Utilities Commission named Miss Elsie G. Riddick, Com. '94, as its chief clerk, climaxing her nearly 50 years of service with the commission in January.

A statement by Chairman Stanley Winborne said: "Miss Riddick came with this commission before she was 20 years old and will have completed 50 years of service before April 1, 1949. There are few people within the state government who are better qualified for the positions they hold and have served the state with greater credit. . . ."

"Miss Riddick," continued Mr. Winborne, "in spite of her long years of service, is physically vigorous, and her mind is scintillating with energy and activity."

1948's Take Variety of Positions

Woman's College Home Economics and Physical Education graduates of 1948 have lost no time in taking over a wide variety of positions for which their four-year courses prepared them.

A count of the 80 graduates of the Home Economics Department places most of them at teaching home economics in schools and in county home agency work. A dozen are working for industrial and business organizations, others are in hospital dietetics, directing nursery schools, managing school and industrial cafeterias, practicing interior decorating, or are doing graduate work.

1948 Physical Education majors have located in eleven states, nine of them here in North Carolina. Two of them are doing graduate work; five are in recreation either in Y.W.C.A.'s, cities, or hospitals; eight are teaching in colleges; and six teach in the public schools.

Vocational Guidance Conference Scheduled for April

The Sophomore Class and the Alumnae Association are sponsoring jointly a Vocational Guidance Conference to be held at the College April 5, 1949. The Conference is scheduled to take place before the Sophomores choose their major fields in an effort to acquaint them with the many opportunities and fields open to women today.

Miss Dorothy Davis, the committee from the sophomore class, and the Alumnae Undergraduate Relations Committee headed by Mrs. Jane Wharton Sockwell, are formulating plans as the News goes to press.

Tentative plans call for a chapel speaker on a topic related to "Choosing a Vocation" at noon April 5. During the afternoon outstanding representatives of various fields open to women will hold conferences with interested students. Many of these leaders will be alumnae.

A buffet supper is planned for the guests and committees in the Alumnae House at 6 p.m.; and in the evening there will be a panel discussion covering such general topics as "Choosing a Vocation," "Employer-Employee Relationships," "Personality as its Affects Your Career." Mr. C. W. Phillips, director of public relations at Woman's College, will be the moderator of the panel.

Fields open to women which will be covered are, art; interior design; fashion design, occupational therapy; business and personnel; geography, government service; home economics; institutional administration, family relationship, hospital dietetics; industrial chemistry; law; library work; music; mathematics; medicine; newspaper work; nursing; physics; radio; recreation; religious activities; sociology; welfare work, child welfare; teaching; and writing.

W. C. Has New Technical Laboratory

Dr. Ruth Collings, physician to Woman's College, has announced the recent installation of a new technical laboratory in the college infirmary and the acquisition of new X-ray machine. Mrs. Sally Mumford is the laboratory technician in charge.

Another additional service of the college infirmary is the appointment of Dr. Robert Gerrard of Greensboro as psychiatrist, who is now available to students for consultation.

Dr. Ruth Collings was recently elected a member of the Committee of Administrative Practices of the American Health Association.

Dr. McCain's Portrait Unveiled

A portrait of the late Dr. Paul P. McCain, husband of Sadie McBrayer '16, was unveiled in the lobby of the Main Building at Sanatorium, N. C., December 7. The portrait, gift of the State Medical Society, was unveiled by Sarah Johnson McCallum, only granddaughter of Dr. and Mrs. McCain.

An exhibition of oils and watercolors by Alumnae of the Woman's College opened in December in the Weatherspoon Art Gallery and continued through January 24. Variety was a striking feature of the exhibit which contained 35 selected paintings, ranging from abstractions to representation.

The exhibitors represented in the exhibit were Mary (Ader) Bonkmeyer '42, Arlington, Va., oil; Callie O. Braswell, Class of '49, Greensboro, oil and watercolor; Jean Church '41, Greensboro, three oils; Mary S. Creety '48, Atlanta, Ga., two oils; Armantine (Dunlap) Douglass '44, Austin, Tex., two watercolors; M e r c e r (Reeves) Hubbard '35, two watercolors; Esther (Wright) Huffman, two watercolors; Mrs. Bob Jamieson, Greensboro, two watercolors; Mrs. R. L. Lyon (Elizabeth Reeves '38), Durham, two watercolors; Elizabeth Hamrick Mack, Charlotte, oil; Mrs. Roger McDuffie (Lena Kernodle '21), Greensboro, two oils; Eloise Pickard Smith, cassien and watercolor; Elsie Smith '46, Durham, two watercolors; Crystal Theodore, Montgomery, Ala., oil; Mrs. Mary Leath Thomas, Athens, Ga., two gouaches; Anna Wills '35, Greensboro, two watercolors; Elizabeth Beall, '44, Greensboro, watercolor.

The exhibit was viewed by hundreds of visitors, faculty and students.

ALUMNAE ART EXHIBIT IS HELD

GOLDEN CHAIN TAPS NEW MEMBERS

The Golden Chain, outstanding Woman's College honor organization, has initiated eight Seniors and five Juniors into the group.

Replacing the recognition of student leaders formerly made at Woman's College by Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities, the Golden Chain functions as a service organization. Election is based on leadership, service, character, and scholarship.

The Seniors initiated are, Elizabeth Lee Cunningham of Gastonia, Betsy Umstead of Durham, Marilyn Cohn of New York City, Jan Shore of Winston-Salem, Ruth Sellars of Charlotte, Nancy Beam Funderburk of Greensboro, Sarah Denny of Raleigh, and Lucille McCallum of Troy. Juniors initiated are Nancy Porter of Wyoming, Ohio, Shirley Mahan of Newton Upper Falls, Mass., Nell Jones of High Point, Jane Edmunds of Lynchburg, Va., and Eleanor Rigney of Elmhurst, L. I., N. Y.

Chancellor W. C. Jackson and Dean Katherine Taylor were made honorary members of the group. The Senior members of Golden Chain include Nancy Kendall, Middleboro, Mass., president; Martha Guion of Aberdeen, secretary; June Holtzendorf of Clemson, S. C., treasurer; Barbara Apostolacus of Long Branch, N. J., Clara Jean Cooke of Winston-Salem, Martha Fowler of Durham, and Marilyn McCallum of Reidsville.

News from Local Alumnae Chapters

Henderson County

The Henderson County Chapter of the Alumnae Association of W. C. U. N. C. held a banquet meeting January 20, 1949, in the Home Food Shop, Hendersonville, N. C. After a delightful dinner, Mrs. Alice Brackett (Alice Porter '41), chairman, conducted a short business session. The committee reports were heard, and Mrs. Brackett asked for suggestions for conducting the work of the legislative committee during this term of the State Legislature. The legislative committee was given authority to act for the group.

Orders were taken for cards by Ethelyn Reaben '48 and orders for plates by Mrs. Julia Campbell.

At the close of the banquet, the group of twenty-six went in cars to "Traumfest", the home of Col. and Mrs. R. B. Rollinson. Mrs. Rollinson gave the group a very interesting lecture on teapots, and showed her beautiful collection. Tea and crackers were served the group at the close of the evening.

Hertford County

Nineteen Woman's College Alumnae of Hertford County met November 18, 1948, in the Home Economics Cottage in Aboskie at 7:30 p.m. Mrs. R. A. Holloman (Anna Higgs Griffith, Class of '29) presided.

Mrs. B. E. Copeland (Lucy Boone '95), member of the earliest class represented, read Corinthians 1:13, favorite passage of Dr. Charles D. McIver, Founder of the College.

Mrs. Anne Fulton Carter '21, Counselor in Cotten Hall, reported on the Harriet Elliott Social Science Forum and discussed certain phases of student life at the College.

Betty Brown Jester '31, Alumnae Secretary, brought news of the college—new buildings, new courses, new faculty—and presented the various projects of the Alumnae Association. Pictures of the campus and student activities were enjoyed and the colored movie of Commencement 1948 was shown by Dr. J. B. Brown, husband of Edith Martin, Class of '39.

Mrs. Holloman appointed a committee to make arrangements for a winter meeting, composed of Mrs. O. W. Pittman (Rachel Newbern '45), Mrs. Julian Brown (Mary Winston '34), and Mrs. Ray Widmer (Betty Steinhardt '29). The Legislative Committee named as Mrs. C. E. Fike (Rosa Pegram), Mrs. B. E. Copeland (Lucy Boone '95), and Mrs. Widmer, representing Bertie County.

Following the business meeting, the group enjoyed delicious sandwiches, cookies and coffee. Mrs. C. W. Hughes (Garnette Beasley '30) poured coffee, assisted by the other two hostesses, Mrs. A. W.

Luncheonette is Named Hubbub

There's a Hubbub on Woman's College Campus, with a capital H. It's the name of the new soda shop and luncheonette used for the first time this fall.

The name was suggested by Miss Elva Barrow of the chemistry department in a campus-wide contest.

One visit to the Hubbub between classes is enough to prove that the name is appropriate.

Johnston County

The Johnson County Alumnae meeting at the Woman's College Club in Smithfield, Tuesday night, October 5 elected Miss Jane Parker '41, local attorney, as its new chairman. She succeeds Mrs. H. V. Rose (Edith Powell '26), who served as chairman for the past several years. Eighteen members were present.

Other officers chosen are: Vice-chairman, Miss Rena King '22, of Pine Level, principal of the Pine Level School; secretary, Mrs. Ed Austin (Audrey Turner '47), of Four Oaks; treasurer, Miss Lillian Lee, Class of '42, of Clayton and Smithfield.

Mrs. W. G. Wilson (Annie Bonney '19) was named to represent the chapter at the Social Science Forum held at the College, November 11, 12, and 13.

It was decided to ask a representative of the college to come to Smithfield some time during the school year and talk to the high school girls. Miss Mafalda Dawson '31 was named to secure a representative.

Announcement was made that playing cards bearing pictures of the Alumnae House are for sale and Mrs. Ned Cunningham was elected as the local representative. A double deck sells for $2. For sale also are Commemorative Wedgewood Plates with an alumnae house scene. These sell for $3 each and reservations can be made through the Alumnae Secretary, Greensboro.

Following the business session an effort was made to hear the Founder's Day Program which was to have been broadcast over radio from Greensboro. Wade Talton, Inc., furnished a Farmsworth arm chair model radio for the occasion, but mechanical difficulties in Greensboro prevented the program's being heard.

During the evening, fruit juice and cookies were served.

Among those present were Mrs. Anna Lunceford, the oldest member of the chapter, who graduated in 1899.

New Hanover County

Forty-three members of the newly organized New Hanover County Chapter of Woman's College alumnae enjoyed a dinner meeting Monday, January 24, at 7 p.m. at the Friendly Cafeteria, Wilmington. Miss Beth Slocum '42, chairman, presided.

Mrs. Joseph Holman (Jean Smith '42) introduced Miss Katherine Taylor, Dean of Women at Woman's College, the guest speaker, who gave a most interesting report on the academic and social life at the college, and the new buildings, both already under way and scheduled for the near future. Pictures of student and faculty activities were shown, as was the colored movie of Commencement 1948.

The group enjoyed also an informal gab fest after the meeting, with Miss Taylor answering the myriad questions about W. C.

Orange County

The midwinter meeting of the Orange County Alumnae Chapter was held in the Graham Memorial at Chapel Hill at 8 p.m., Wednesday, December 8. Mrs. Robert Hires (Toni Lupton '44), chairman, presided.

Following a brief discussion of the Spring meeting, to be held March 7, the chairman introduced Betty Brown Jester, alumnae secretary, who reported on activities at the college, alumnae projects, and showed pictures of student and college activities.

Miss Marjorie Hood, member of the Library staff, was a special guest at the meeting.

Coca-colas were enjoyed in the social hour which followed the meeting. About fifteen alumnae were present.

Philadelphia, Penn.

The Philadelphia Chapter of the Woman's College Alumnae Association held its first meeting at Kugler's Restaurant, Chestnut Street, January 19, at 1:00 o'clock. Although we only had a short time in which to arrange it, 18 strong were present for the luncheon, for which Betty (Calder) Tuff '38 made the arrangements.

After lunch, election of officers was held. Fannie (Daniel) Boepple '38 was elected chairman, and Joan (Bleuthenthal) Pomerantz '41 was elected secretary-treasurer.

Then the meeting was turned over to Miss Katherine Taylor. Everyone was intensely interested in the changes that have been and are taking place. Most alumnae, learning of the improved physical plant, were ready to go back to school again.

Miss Taylor also told of the Social Science Forum honoring Miss Elliott. There was general agreement that the Philadelphia Chapter would like to contribute monetarily to its support.

In her most enjoyable talk, Miss Taylor also touched on the quest for a new chancellor, faculty changes, the food, and (oh so lightly) on the financial problem.

All agreed they would like to have another meeting in the spring.

Those attending the meeting were: Edna Flynn '46, Nancy Katzenberger '45, Dorothy (Leagans) Marx '46, Natalie (Schlossberg) Bodner '44, Ruth (Talley) Sherman '45, Dorothy (Loftin) Granger, Esther Kessinger, Amy Kline, Frances (Berger) Seidman, Peggy (Wallace) Ayres '42, Jean (Emmons) Saunders '42, Betty (Calder) Luff '38, Elizabeth (Stimson) Wilson, Jr. '43, Mildred Duff '36, Catharine (Jones) Pierce, Joan (Bleuthenthal) Pomerantz '40, and Mary Lou (Fuller) Abbott '28.

Rowan County

More than 60 Rowan County alumnae of Woman's College gathered Monday evening, February 14th, for dinner at the First Presbyterian Church in Salisbury but to honor Dean Katherine Taylor, a native of Salisbury, and to hear a number of brief talks on current campus activities and plans.

Moffitt (Sinclair) Henderson '14, president of the local alumnae chapter, presided over the meeting and introduced Eleanor (Watson) Andrews '00, who pronounced the invocation.

Following dinner, those present—ranging from the class of 1898 to the class of 1948—introduced themselves, sang the College Song, and heard Mrs. Henderson name a nominating committee for the coming year which consisted of Bessie (Wright) Ragland '15, chairman, Clara (Craven) Dunham '22, Mattie (Angel) Kesler '22, and Aleine (Lyerly) Kirchin '32.

Rosalie (Wiley) Kizziah '28 presented a brief report from the Legislative Committee, outlining the work done by the group in behalf of the college.

A Woman's College statistical report was read by Camille (Campbell) Gamble '19, who pointed out that there were more than 30,000 alumnae of the college who had entered some 67 vocational fields.

She also introduced Betty Brown Jester, alumnae secretary at the college.

A review of recent alumnae activities and plans for the future was given by Mrs. Jester—including the Social Science forum, future Founders Day events, and a vocational guidance day program scheduled for April—all events which merit the cooperation of the 18,000 W. C. alumnae in North Carolina.

Miss Betty Ann Ragland then introduced Miss Joyce Parker, a Salisbury student now attending Woman's College. Miss Parker discussed briefly the plan for Arts Forum, which will be held during March, and urged alumnae to attend some of its sessions.

Emma (Speight) Morris '00 presented the guest speaker for the evening, pointing out that Salisbury is proud to have a dean of Woman's College who is a native of this city.

Dean Taylor, in a brief but highly challenging talk, outlined the building program now underway on the campus, and explained the set-up of the college's student government, which has evolved from the late Dean Harriet Elliott's philosophy of responsible freedom.

She pointed out some of the many advantages offered to today's Woman's College student—the opportunity for growth offered by the college's emphasis on responsible freedom, the opportunity for meeting girls from other parts of the country (who make up 15 per cent of the student body), the residence hall governmental system under which all discipline is purely student-imposed; the tradition of freedom that pervades the campus—and the opportunity for extensive social life.

"On Friday, Saturday, and Sunday the campus is really coeducational," she said.

Other special guests present for the meeting included Clara (McNeill) Foust '09, Miss Edna Forney '08, and Evon (Welch) Dean com. '42, all of Greensboro.

A Valentine Day motif was carried out in the decorations for the occasion. Colorful red and white gladiolus were featured on the head tables, and red flowering shrubs decorated the other tables.

Place cards and programs were of an attractive red heart design.

Dinner included grapefruit, baked ham, candied apples, cauliflower, celery, carrots, and cucumbers, slaw, rolls and butter, coffee, and strawberry surprise.

St. Petersburg, Fla.

The second meeting of the St. Petersburg Chapter was held on November 4, 1948, at the home of Mrs. Herbert Rodd (Josephine Pressley, class of '10), 716 14th Avenue N. E., St. Petersburg.

Mrs. Edmund McLaurin (Louisa Thackston, class of '37), acting chairman, presided, assisted by Mrs. Porter H. Garland (Betty Jane Coggins '46).

Although only six members were present, it was decided to hold the election of officers, the results of which are as follows: Chairman, Mrs. Garland; Clearwater representative, Miss Ann Keeter '45; secretary, Mrs. McLaurin; treasurer, Mrs. Rodd.

The members voted to pay monthly dues of 25c. Plans were made for each member to contribute a small gift, not to exceed 25c, to the Mercy Hospital (colored) for children patients at Christmas. The gifts are to be brought to the next meeting.

It was also voted to have individual members conduct the program for each meeting, Mrs. W. H. Wichman to give the program for the December meeting.

The meeting adjourned and a social hour was enjoyed. The next meeting was to be held at the home of Mrs. Edmund McLaurin, 1554 32nd St. South, St. Petersburg, on December 2, 1948.

A dinner meeting was held on Thursday evening, February 3, 1949, at the Mary Bradford Dining Room by the members of the St. Petersburg Alumnae Chapter, in honor of Mr. C. W. Phillips, public relations director of the college, who, with Mrs. Phillips, has been spending several days in the St. Petersburg area to visit high schools in behalf of the college.

After the dinner the members assembled at the home of Mrs. Herbert Rodd, where Mr. Phillips spoke to the group and colored movies of the 1948 graduation were shown.

Those attending were: Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Phillips, Greensboro, N. C.; Betty (Coggins) Garland '46, president; Louisa (Thaxton) McLaurin, class of '37, secretary; Josephine (Pressly) Rodd, class of '10, treasurer; Mrs. James I. McCallum; Doris (Nowell) Williams '39; Mildred (Walker) Wiechman '30; Oeland (Putnam) Reece, class of '26; Elizabeth Glavich '42; Mrs. James Limer of Largo; Ann Keeter '45 of Clearwater. Alumnae visitors were Mrs. Katherine Carpenter and Mrs. Sudie (Israel) Wolf '94.

Thomasville Chapter

The Thomasville Alumnae of Woman's College of the University of North Carolina entertained the Junior and Senior girls of Thomasville High School Friday afternoon during the last period of the day at an informal tea. Mrs. Vann Stringfield (Mae Shearer '23) is chairman of the Thomasville Chapter.

The tea is an annual affair in hopes of arousing an interest in the girls for attending college, not only Woman's College but any accredited college. Twenty-one girls of Thomasville and near are attending Woman's College and a larger number of these were present along with a hundred junior and senior high school girls. A large number of the Alumnae were also present.

Mr. Charles Phillips of Woman's College faculty introduced the college girls. Miss Nell Jones '50 of High Point and Miss Clara Jean Cook '49 of Winston-Salem spoke on "The Democracy and Social Life of the College." Miss Betty Winecuff '49 of Greensboro, accompanied by Miss Doris Jean Thomas '49 of Durham, gave a group of solos.

A delicious sweet course was served buffet style from a lovely appointed tea table. A bowl of jonquils banked by lighted tapers, carrying out the College colors, yellow and white, centered the table.

Mrs. R. K. Farrington (Mary Louise Bailey '25) and Mrs. Jesse Finch (Pauline McFadyen, class of '39) were co-hostesses in planning the occasion.

Wake County

Wake County Alumnae of the Woman's College entertained January 13 at a reception in the Virginia Dare ballroom of the Hotel Sir Walter, honoring Mrs. W. Kerr Scott and her daughter, Mrs. Alfred Lowdermilk, Jr., alumnae, and Dr. W. C. Jackson, retiring chancellor of the college. Mrs. Scott is the former Mary White, class of '21, and Mrs. Lowdermilk is Mary Kerr Scott, '42.

Greeting guests were Mrs. Carlton Jester Jr. of Greensboro, executive secretary of the Woman's College Alumnae Association, and Miss Hattie Parrott, Mrs. F. Carter Williams, and Mrs. A. M. Fountain, all of Raleigh.

In the receiving line were Mrs. T. N. Brafford Jr., president of the Wake County alumnae; Mrs. Boydston Satterfield of Atlanta, president of the general alumnae association; Mrs. Scott, Dr. and Mrs. Frank P. Graham of Chapel Hill; Mrs. Lowdermilk, Dr. and Mrs. Jackson and Miss Katherine Taylor, dean of Woman's College.

Receiving for the college trustees were Mr. and Mrs. J. C. B. Ehringhaus, Dr. and Mrs. Clyde A. Erwin, and Mrs. L. L. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Arch T. Allen, Dr. and Mrs. Clarence Poe, and A. L. Monroe.

Receiving throughout the club were Col. and Mrs. J. W. Harrelson of Raleigh; Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. House, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Carmichael and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Teague, all of Chapel Hill; and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. John Lockhart, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Wilkinson, Mr. and Mrs. James Painter, Dr. Lyda Gordon Shivers, Dr. Helen Barton and Misses Ione Grogan, Merib Mossman, Jane Summerell, Louise Alexander, Vera Largent, Bernice Draper, Margaret Edwards and Florence Sheaffer, all of Greensboro.

Members of the Wake County Alumnae Association who assisted in receiving were Mesdames Hermon Briggs, E. L.

Cloyd, B. T. Duke, Vance Jerome, N. B. Koonce, A. H. Lathrop of Asheville, Richard C. Price, L. H. Swain and Fred W. Terrell and Misses Lucy Cherry Crisp, Frances Lacy, and Judy Barrett.

Students from Woman's College who attended the reception were Miss Martha Fowler, Durham, president of the Student Government Association; Miss Marilyn McCollum, Reidsville, vice president of the Student Government Association; Miss Sara Denny, editor of the Carolinian; Miss Glenn Hardin, Greensboro; and Miss Lenore Satterfield, Atlanta, Ga.

Mesdames W. T. Bost, Emory B. Denny, Gurney P. Hood and Miss Carrie Broughton presided over the punch bowls. Assisting in serving were Mesdames John T. EtcHELLS, F. B. Ashcraft, Don F. Ashton, Ralph W. Cummings, Charles Hardie, W. H. Kimrey, Anne Cloyd Thornbury, and Frank Turner, and Misses Dorothy Ward, Charlotte Warren, Juanita Stott, Virginia Kirkpatrick, Rita Dubois, Natalie Coffey, and Jean Brown.

Dr. Jackson, who is retiring in June, spoke briefly to the alumnae before the reception. Music during the evening was furnished by Ev-Anne Allen, soprano, and Jean Rainey, pianist, and Ester Elliott, violinist, students of the Woman's College music department.

Punch, sandwiches and cookies were served to several hundred guests who were received during the evening.

Mrs. Don F. Ashton was chairman of the decorations committee. She was assisted by Miss Juanita Stott and Mrs. Frank Turner. Serving on the hostess committee were Mrs. A. M. Fountain, chairman, and Mesdames W. H. Kimrey and W. T. Bost.

Washington, D.C., and Vicinity

The Washington Alumnae Chapter of the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina held its second meeting of the year at 8 o'clock Friday, January 28, at the Woman's City Club, 1733 Eye Street, N.W.

Miss Katherine Taylor, dean of women, most interestingly and capably informed the group of the activities of the personnel department of the college. She pointed out the manner in which such a large college overcomes the disadvantages that its size creates, and yet, offers the advantages of a university. Also, attention was directed to the ways in which the college meets the opposing points often given in form of coeducation for girls. Members present at this enthusiastic meeting were left with a conviction that our Alma Mater is truly an outstanding college, and with a wish that we could enjoy the numerous assets now offered at Greensboro.

Mrs. W. Nev Evans, a former member of the college faculty, who is now a field representative of the Federal Security Agency in Washington, discussed the Harriet Elliott Social Science Forum, which occupies a conspicuous place on the college calendar.

All in all, the meeting was a pleasant experience, and the social hour was a satisfying climax to the efforts of Mabel (Holland) Wright '30 and her committee.

Previous to the meeting at 8 o'clock, several members had gathered to have dinner with Miss Taylor.

The Washington Club, following several years of inactivity, has again come to active life, and four meetings are included in the year's program. Our next meeting is to be a luncheon, scheduled for April 30, and under the chairmanship of Miriam (Block) Lubin '31.

With the capable guidance of our new executive committee, with Eloise (Cobb) Harris '33, chairman, assisted by Mary Wood Wolfe and Georgia (Arnett) Bonds '38, the club looks forward to a good year. Helen (Tighe) Stanley '28, chairman of the program committee, with the help of Kate (Hall) Carlson '26, is offering interesting programs. The refreshments committee, with Mabel (Holland) Wright, chairman, and Helen Sherwin '41, and Frances (Johnson) Lewis '30, are adding zest to the meetings.

Frances (Hampton) Goodridge '30, chairman of publicity, has found readable material to offer the Washington newspapers for publication.

The Washington Alumnae Club is going forward with our college motto, "Service," ever beckoning us onward.

Miss Jackson Joins Public Relations Staff

Virginia Jackson '29 has assumed her duties as Assistant to Mr. C. W. Phillips, Director of Public Relations at Woman's College. Prior to coming to the college, Miss Jackson was associated with her brother, W. C. Jackson, Jr., in their printing business in Greensboro, the Office Service Company.

Wake County Bridge Clubs

At the spring and fall meetings of the Wake County Woman's College Alumnae, we obtained a list of the girls interested in a Bridge Club. We had an organization meeting of these girls in October. Two clubs of nine girls each were formed. It was decided that these clubs would meet once each month for nine months in the year, September through May, and each girl will act as hostess to her group at one monthly meeting each year.

The first group met with Dorothy Ward '41 in November, with Katherine Hilderman '42 in December, and will meet with Frances (Templeton) Hodges '42 in January.

The second group met with Maribelle (Guin) Farlow '42 in November, with Ella Marie (Pinkston) Rodman '43 in December, and will meet with Mary (Crumpler) Spence '44 in January.

The girls really seem to enjoy getting together in the small groups and playing a little bridge while they catch up on all the W. C. news.

Phoebe (Ennis) Kimrey, '40.

Local Chapter Publications

Two very clever publications by local chapters have been received recently.

The Washington, D. C. Bulletin, Renaissance Edition, is most interesting. Names of officers, committees, schedule of meetings, and announcements about dues, etc., make up page one. A list of alumnae in the vicinity of Washington with addresses is also attached. Congratulations to a wide awake group! This bulletin will surely create much interest in the already active chapter.

The year book of the Thomasville Alumnae Chapter is very attractively bound in gold with white lettering. The College Song, officers and committees and schedule of meetings are well presented. These attractive booklets were presented to alumnae and junior and senior high school girls at the tea given in their honor January 28.

Meetings Scheduled

As the Alumnae News goes to press, a number of local chapter meetings have been scheduled.

News from the Alumnae

Everlasting President

Mrs. T. Gilbert Pearson
(Elsie Weatherly)
2257 Loring Place,
University Heights, New York City.

Maude (Coble) McIntosh lives in Laurinburg and is greatly interested in the civic and religious life of her town.

Cornelia (Deaton) Hamilton, who lives in Davidson, writes that her broken arm, result of a fall last May, is improving slowly. In spite of the fact that arthritis confines her to a wheel chair, she enjoys her home, her church and social life in Davidson. She corresponds with Jeanne (Ellington) Allen of Wadesboro and thinks often of the years at the State Normal when the group was small but earnest. She wrote recently: "Miss Mary Lazenby, who lives in Statesville at the old Lazenby home, is still a student."

Everlasting President

Miss Iola Exum
Snow Hill, N. C.

Nellie (Bond) Askew, Windsor, writes: "After a number of years spent in the village of Oriental on the Neuse River, we are now living at 'Albemarle', our farm in Bertie County on the Albemarle Sound. Our foster daughter and three of our four foster sons, all of whom saw service overseas, are married and we now have three grandsons and a granddaughter. The Alumnae News is always read with much interest."

1898

Everlasting President

Mrs. R. Murphy Williams
(Lillie Boney)

Mrs. Wade Barrier
(Mittie P. Lewis)
Box 1434, Wilmington, N. C.
Myrtle (Hunt) Mattocks, 6450 S.
Minerva, Chicago 37, Ill.

Lelia Judson Tuttle, Lenoir, writes: "A new life begins for the retired foreign missionary at 65 as she takes up her place in the old home community. She finds she can and must learn many new tricks, social, domestic, political, agricultural and religious. I am secretary of our local Home Demonstration Club and also of the County Council, am president of the W.S.C.S. of our local church, and serve on several committees for public welfare, helping in drives of all kinds. My china arts and crafts collection is open to the public and I have many visits from clubs, societies and school groups. A full and rather satisfactory life for an old woman."

Everlasting President

Mrs. O. L. McCullen
(Bertha Sugg)
Route 1, Faison, N. C.

Lula (Patterson) Rogers, class of '01, Mooresville, who was suffering from a broken arm in November, sent the following verse:

"My life shall touch a dozen lives
Before this day is done:
Leave countless marks for good or ill
Ere sets the evening sun;
So this the wish I always wish,
The prayer I ever pray;
Lord, may my life help other lives
It touches by the way."

1903

Rhea Olga Featherston, class of 1903, writes from 209 Montana Ave., Santa Monica, Calif., that she spent a most enjoyable summer in northern New Mexico. "I made my headquarters at Taos, where I met many of the artists and Indians. Enlarged my repertoire with some Indian dancing."

1904

Everlasting President

Katherine Erwin
1765 Mass. Ave., N.W.
The Southern Club
Washington 6, D. C.

Hallie Beavers, new address: Box 342, Balboa, Canal Zone.

Katherine Adelaide Erwin wrote recently: "My most absorbing interest is in my 'adopted' children. They are three little Orientals, Wong Teh-Ch'ang a boy of nine years, and his sister Teh-Mei, seven, who are in the Sandford Children's Home (Methodist), Stonegateway, Chaotung, Yunnan Province, China, and Mi-ya-mo-to H3-so-ko a girl of eleven who is in Jiaa Nomura, Kimamoto, Japan. I got all three through China's Children Fund of Richmond, Va., to whom I pay $10.00 a month for each. The little Chinese family, in wretched condition, was brought to the Home by one of our army chaplains. Their parents had died of typhoid fever. The little Japanese girl returned from school one day to find that a bomb had killed her mother and the younger members of her family. Her father had been killed in the war. The authorities printed her picture in the papers of the district around Moji, her home, hoping to find some relatives who could assume responsibility for her, but none were found and she was among the ragged, hungry, children gathered from the streets by Miss Powlas, a Lutheran missionary. Perhaps some of you know children who would like to write to them."

1916

Everlasting President
Mrs. Ernest Walker
(Annie Spainhour)
221 Riverside Dr., Morganton, N. C.

Caroline (Robinson) Dellinger lives in Ivanhoe and commutes eight miles to the Franklin School, Sampson County, where she teaches sixth grade.

Frances (Summerell) Stickney, who lives in Anapolis, Goias, Brasil, says in part: "I've been asked to give a dinner talk to the Rotary Club here (yes, we do have a Rotary Club) the first of December on some phase of education in the United States, so I've decided to take Women's Education as illustrated in Woman's College, and take the theme that Dr. McIver made so famous and shown so well in the publication 'Educate A Woman' and with the help of the Alumnae News, I shall throw various scenes on a screen and bluster along in my faulty Portuguese and tell them what it's all about. Here in Brasil, where a woman is either a doll or a slave, this question of education, little beyond the three R's and painting, needle work and music, is almost unheard of, so a little enlightenment may not be amiss. Who knows, out of this may some day come to W. C. a student from Brasil's hinterland! We had the pleasurable experience of having John dos Passos pay us a visit last week. He is a very delightful person—told us of his new book, 'The Great Design', that is to come out in January."

Luella (Burden) Ross, 1405 N. 7th St., Burlington, Iowa: "I have begun working at home for the local branch of the National Research Bureau. In October 1 was made the leader in the nursery department of our church, where I work with children up to four years, all of which is quite remote from my major in English."

Jennie (Cecil) Erickson, 407 W. Second Ave., Lexington, writes that her occupations are: "Vicki 2 and Steven 8 months—and what an occupation!"

Margaret L. Coit, 259 Main St., West Newbury, Mass., was one of six national winners of fellowships at the Breadloaf Writers Conference, Middlebury, Vt., this past summer. She was nominated by Houghton Mifflin Company, Boston, publishers of her forthcoming book, "American Portrait: John C. Calhoun."

Evelyn Cox, Rt. 2, Box 525, Greensboro.

Mary Miller, Bakersville, N. C.

Helen (Mullican) Hicks, Navenstrasse, 43, Basel, Switzerland, brings us up to date: "After our marriage in '45 Lansing and I lived in Weldon, N. C., where he was priest-in-charge of the Episcopal Church there, in Jackson, and Halifax. In September '46 we went to New York so that he could study for his doctorate in Old Testament at Union Seminary. For our two years there I was dietitian in charge of the doctors and nurses dining room at the New York Hospital, where I took my dietetics training. In August this year we came to Europe to spend a year studying at the University of Basel, and to travel as much as we can afford. We have had a week in Paris, where we played with the gargoyles of Notre Dame. Spent one day seeing the glories of Chartres and drinking up the flavor of Parisian life. Of course, the week was not nearly long enough, but our search for a permanent base in Basel brought us here the first of September. After three weeks of answering and running ads, we are sharing an apartment with a French lady who speaks German and French, but no English. German is the official language of Basel, so we study and try to use that, but the dialect one hears on the street is no help to one learning high German! We had one week in the Beruuese Oberland, which to us was a most fairylike work with green mountains, little houses like music boxes, dripping geraniums from their gingerbread balconies, blue lakes, and snow peaks. Of course, we are charmed with our life here, but it does present its differences in some of our so-called essential habits — heat for instance, is never to us adequate — street lights don't exist, so I cross through street cars, bicycles, and cars with considerable panic. In short, one learns to appreciate America more fully when one is far away!"

Elizabeth (Root) Morse, new address: 12 Sea Gate Road, S. I., New York.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Ricketts (Cassandra Kernodle) a daughter, December 6, 1948, St. Leo's Hospital, Greensboro.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Brown Puckett Gordon Jr. (Mable Frances Lloyd) a son, Mark Lloyd Gordon, October 19, 1948, Hillsboro.

Laurinda Wright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wright, Jr. (Christine Allen '42). She was a Conover photographer's model for her first two years while they lived in New York City, but after moving to White Plains the trip was too long for a little child, so she gave up her "career" for awhile, but may begin again later.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. John F. Hazen Jr. (Anne Turrentine) a daughter, Barbara Anne, October 31, 1948, Hartford, Conn.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Max L. Spurlin (Edith Virginia Vache) a son, Lynn Vache, January 2, 1949, Norburn Hospital, Asheville.

Christine (Allen) Wright, 60 Palmer Ave., North White Plains, N. Y., wrote us recently: "I am now a member of the College Club of White Plains and am doing my bit to help our international relations by entertaining for dinner once a month for two or three foreign students. So far we've had a Chinese mineralogist, a Brazilian civilian engineer, a Cuban economist, a German majoring in the social sciences, and an Indian from Bombay majoring in finance. Both Tommy and our child have enjoyed our guests and found our meetings enlightening and stimulating. Incidentally, my husband, who is with BBDO advertising agency, in the Television Dept., tells me that Ann Pitoniak '43 recently starred on a national radio program over N.B.C.—a drama, I believe. She is in several of the soap opera dailies and is carving a very deep niche for herself in radio."

Carolyn (Ballow) Bilyeu, 307 Elam Ave., Greensboro.

Esther Bennett, 40 White Farm Dr., Asheville.

Correction: Polly (Creech) Sandridge's baby born in June is a daughter, Kathryn Lee, instead of a son as reported in the August News, much to the delight of her older brother, Roy, and the parents. Polly stays busy with the Church Guild, Cavalier Ladies, Medical School Wives Club, Copley Hill Association, and football games while her husband is completing his third year in Medical School at the University of Virginia.

Virginia (Lylerly) Annunziata, 301 South Road St., Elizabeth City, writes: "My husband is commercial manager of Radio Station WNCN here. We have a little girl one and a half years old. I had a most happy and successful career as a dietitian before becoming a housewife, but am finding my present occupation a happy one also."

Jeanne (Malin) Gillen, her husband and year-old-daughter live at 54 Morton St., New York 14, N. Y.

Carey (McDonald) Howard, 238-27 116th Ave., Elmont, L. I., New York.

Mary Ellen (Payne) Craven lives on Route 5, Winston-Salem.

Theo "Petie" (Roberts) Creadick, 10438 Oletha Lane, Los Angeles 24, Calif., wrote in November: "Dick and I trekked West in our convertible Pontiac when our son, Chris, was three months old. We made a 4500 mile trip, starting from Connecticut and going up through Michigan, down through Oklahoma to Houston and out through Sante Fe to Los Angeles. We bought, by mail, an Architectural Award House which was on the cover of March '46 American Home, and are now in the process of adding a room. I have just taken a job with Welcome Wagon, Inc., a personal advertising service which works through hostesses who greet newcomers to a community or new babies."

Everlasting President

Mrs. Wm. W. Davis
(Jane Thompson)
209 East 6th St., Lumberton.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Samuel E. McKinney III (Jane Burrows) a daughter, Audrey May, December 31, 1948, Bryn Mawr, Pa.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Raney (Miriam Day) a son, Robert William II, November 19, 1948, Little Rock, Ark.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. C. Austin Robbins (Norma Dozier) a second son, August 18, 1948, Rocky Mount.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Gary Nicony (Adele Liebig) a daughter, Jewel Ann, October 12, 1948, Mountainside Hospital, Montclair, N. J.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. John R. Lowe Jr. (Dorothy Lee Matthews) another girl, Marcia Jean, tipping the scales at eight pounds ten ounces, September 9, 1948.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Ed Parker (Aline Strickland) a daughter, Helen Baylies, July 2, 1948, Goldsboro.

Alice (Bowling) Bagley, class of '43, 108 Youngs Avenue, Durham, says: "I am still working as office assistant for Dr. W. R. Stafford of Durham. I am a member of the Pilot Club, Woman's civic club, on the board of directors. In October, I went to Havana, Cuba, and toured the city for several days, seeing all the sights of interest in that vicinity. Left Havana the day before the new president was inaugurated."

Hazel (Bryant) Johnston, 1917 Hillcrest Drive, Durham, says: "We have moved again! My husband has a surgical residency at Watts Hospital in Durham, so I guess we'll be here at least two years. I am certainly interested in seeing other Woman's College girls who live here."

Bettie (Chitty) Chappell, 102 Sedgewick Dr., Norfolk 2, Va.: "In September we moved into our new eight-room brick home. To us it has been a wonderful dream. I haven't had time to enjoy it yet as much as I would like, but am looking forward to Christmas vacation when I can have a few days home. Last year I taught Math in the eighth grade at Broad Creek Junior High. This year I am teaching Language Arts and Social Studies, two classes each, at the same school. We have over 400 students in our eighth grade. With my duties as mother of two children, a boy 4 and a girl 3, as housewife, as a teacher of a group of adolescents, and as visiting teacher for a school of over 1200 pupils, I am kept quite busy."

Sara (Crooks) McDuffee, 412 Lafayette S. E., Grand Rapids, Mich.

Beatrice (Darden) Trevathan, 511 S. E. Third St., Hialeah, Fla., visited Anne (Hauser) Pruitt '43 at Mt. Airy in November. "We introduced our children—her son Len, eleven months, to my daughter Kimberly, nine months."

Emmie (Dark) Lane is teaching in Siler City.

Dorothy (Furr) Yount, West 9th St., Newton: "Patricia celebrated her fourth birthday this month and to enjoy it with her was her four months old baby brother, John McCorkle, whom we adopted on October 6th of this year. He is a wonderful baby, and has brought so much happiness into our home."

Frances (Glaze) Koestline, 1028 South College St., Charlotte, says: "This fall finds me at home and a working woman again. My husband finally succumbed to that yen for further study and is now in Chicago doing graduate study in Journalism at Northwestern University. So my four-year-old daughter, now a kindergartner, and I moved in with my family for the winter. I am working as secretary to the district superintendent of the Charlotte District of the Western North Carolina Conference of the Methodist Church, and had the privilege of going to the annual meeting of the Western North Carolina Conference in September as secretary not only to my boss, but to the Bishop, his Cabinet and the entire Conference. After four years as a housewife, the office routine is a pleasant change; my only regret is that in the few hours left over after work, I can scarcely keep up with the widening interests of my daughter Twinkie."

Martha Goble received her M.S. degree from New York School of Social Work in October 1948, and is now a medical social worker in the Jewish Hospital of Brooklyn.

Martha (Harris) Farthing lives at 1001 Pamlico Dr., Greensboro. They have one son, Edward Glenn, who will be two in July.

Sarah E. Heath, 703 S. Broom St., Wilmington, Del.

Rachel (Johnson) Hallen and her husband, who is an aeronautical engineer with C. A. A., live a 2839 27th St. N. W., Washington, D. C. She is secretary to the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

Patience (Jordan) Credle, 20 Mason Rd., Indian Head, Md.: "I had a delightful short visit in Greensboro in the fall of '47; went by the campus but there was little going on. Cliff and I did have a little visit with Anna (Bell) Dickinson '43, whom I hadn't seen since we taught together in Kingston. We also went by to see Dott (Matthews) Lowe '43 and her family. She had acquired a husband, an adorable daughter, and recently a lovely home in Greensboro since I'd seen her. My husband had just returned from a three-months stay at Bikini, where he was one of the 12 first-class divers to participate in the diving operations in the resurvey. Marge Gelston '43 spent a week-end with us during the summer. She sees quite a few of our class in New York from time to time."

Eleanor (Kendall) McColman, Warsaw.

Ruby (Madry) O'Neal, Box 86, Roanoke Rapids, says: "I am continuing teaching in Roanoke Rapids since my marriage in the summer. Teaching and our five-room 'mansion' really keeps my time well filled."

Juanita Maness, Rt. 2, Carthage.

Jean (McDonald) LeBouvier, 25 Markham St., London, S. W. 3, England, wrote in November: "My husband and I visited the States for two months last summer and of course had a wonderful time. Saw Kama Blackwood '41 and Pel (Whitley) Bookout '41. Johnny spent all his time in hamburger joints and I at soda fountains to stock up for a few more years over here. Returned with all the latest gadgets and machines which are looked at with envy here. I've been doing a little very humble filming lately which completes the list of work in stage, radio, television and films. But except when they pay us each day its rather dull and boring—and certainly not 'art!'"

Wilma M. Morton, 227 North 4th St., Albemarle, teaches Math in Newton-Conover High School in Newton.

Ann (Mumford) Taylor, 735 Berkeley Rd., Columbus, O.: "We have been in Columbus since January 1, 1948, and like it very much. We see Frances (Allen) Rostofer '43 and her husband quite often and it certainly means a lot to me to have a chance to talk W. C. to one who really knows. I also saw Jane (Golden) Bowers '43 and Rachel Long '43 this summer, at Ann (Palmer) Barrow's '43 wedding."

Len Pruitt, year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Walker Pruitt (Anne Hauser '43) Mount Airy.

Agnes (Petit) Reilly, 1111 Virginia St., Lake Charles, La.: "My husband received his Master's Degree from L. S. U. in August and we have returned to Lake Charles, where he is Math instructor at John McNeen Junior College. We have bought a new house and every minute in it has been fun."

Belle (Purvis) Gaskill and her husband live at 415 Eggert Road, Buffalo 15, N. Y. They have a daughter, Cheryl Hicks, who was two in September.

Geneva R. (Rahenkamp) Beck, 1754 Washington Blvd., Chicago 12, Ill.

Pauline Tayloe, 121 N. Person St., Raleigh, teaches English at Hugh Morson High School.

Mary Frances (Varner) Bullard, 405 Lane St., Kannapolis.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. John W. Boyd (Jean Moomau) a daughter, Barbara Finley, October 9, 1948, Norwalk Hospital, Norwalk, Conn.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Mackie Lidie M. Smith, class of '44, a second son, Robert William Jr., October 20, 1948, U. S. Naval Hospital, St. Albans, N. Y.

Doris Bradley is teaching in the Raeford schools.

Frances (Bryant) Ausband, 197 Courtland Place, Asheville, writes: "No special news from Asheville except that I send good wishes to all the class of '44 and all the folks in Greensboro. So does one-year-old "Hank." I was very proud to see Mr. Jackson's picture in Life, October 25th, attending the installation of General Eisenhower as President of Columbia University."

Anne E. Buckley, 612 Wyndhurst Rd., Baltimore 10, Md.

Emma (Dark) Perry, Pittsboro.

Betty (Dorton) Thomas, 10 Carolyn Drive, Concord, writes: "Am beginning to feel quite at home in Concord now. See Phyllis (Crooks) Coltrane '43 and her two cute boys every day or so. There are lots of W. C. Alumnae members here in town. Never knew before now the difference in pounding a typewriter all day and trying to keep a house running in smooth order. Both are hard jobs, but I'm bearing up under housekeeping very well."

Marjorie Annabel (Embrey) Hansen, 583 W. Housatonic St., Pittsfield, Mass.: "My husband, my 2½-year-old son, and I have been in our little house here in the Berkshires since early May after an 8½-month separation, due to lack of housing. George, my husband, is now head of the General Books for the Plastics Division of the General Electric Co. here. I see quite a few W. C. Alumnae—Frieda (Boger) Lane '44, her husband, and daughter spent a long week-end with us the last of July."

Ruth (Ferguson) Burson writes that she has moved into her new home in Fresno, O., and is back in the class room. "This is a rather unusual teaching job, as it is an Amish community, and we have quite a few of the children in school. Their dress, beliefs, and customs are quite unusual. The first day of school most of the first graders came in unable to speak any language except German."

Cherry Folger stopped by the Alumnae Office late in November on her way back to New York after a delightful trip to Havana. She joined Billie (Upchurch) Miller '44 and her husband at the Key West airport and they had a wonderful trip together.

Mary Agnes (Graham) Gantt, 1520 Court Ave., Memphis, Tenn.

Ruth (Greene) Fulton, Cleveland Ave., Kings Mountain.

Betty Jo (Hauser) Newton, 5113 Benning Rd., S. E. Apt. 6, Washington, D. C.

Rebecca Herring, Lumberton.

Margaret (Honeycutt) Dawson lives at 16A Chelsea Apts., Savannah, Ga., where her husband is vice president of the Savannah Armature Works.

Sarah Hopper writes: "In July I resigned as librarian of the Cumberland County Public Library, Fayetteville, to accept the position of reference librarian in the Engineering Library, V. P. J., Blacksburg, Va. Although the work is vastly different from that of a public library, I find it interesting and thoroughly enjoyable."

Betty Lou (Howser) Surratt, Apt. 22-G, Vetteville, State College, Raleigh, teaches at Hugh Morson High School in Raleigh while her husband is attending State. Sherry, their three-year-old daughter, has been selected by the Senior Class at Hugh Morson to be the class mascot.

Betty Greene (Johnson) Cheek, 1905 Glendale Ave., Durham.

Lola Maie Johnson, 1941 N. Delaware St., Indianapolis, Ind., directs the teen age program for young people at the Y.W.C.A. "The Alumnae News helps to keep me in touch with the many classmates I spent four wonderful years with. Everywhere I go I meet W. C. students—even here in Indianapolis. Betty White '42 is living just a block from me."

Charlotte (Jones) Wagner, new address: 319 Phillips St., High Point.

Delon (Kearney) Turner, 612 Sycamore St., Rocky Mount.

Jeanne (Keeter) Benton and her husband, who completed his course at State College in June, live in Apt. 161, Building 45, Morris Field Homes, Charlotte. They have a daughter, Carol Jeanne 3.

Mary (Kincaid) Lytle, 859 N. Highlands Ave. N. E., Atlanta, Ga.

Emmalee (Kirby) Garter, 233 Graham St., Carlisle, Pa.

Nancy (Kirby) West writes: "We moved into our new house November 1. Our son, Tim, is two years old and has a doll named Santa Claus."

Louise (Lazarus) Frankel, Box 389, Hendersonville, writes: "My baby, Sherry, is 1½ now and a future Phi Beta, we think, of course. Ethel Kessler) Bernstein '43 and her husband were up recently. Bumped into Nancy (Abernethy) Norton '43 at a Community Theatre play in Asheville not long ago. She told me she had heard Anne Pitoniak '43 several times on the Radio City Theatre over NBC."

Claire (McRoberts) Bartlett, 140 Grant Ave., Jersey City, N. J.: "It was grand getting together with New Jersey Alumnae and chatting with friends old and new about college in general. We were most happy to have our Alumnae Secretary as our guest. I should like to use this medium for inviting all N. J. members to join us at our next reunion. We'd love to see you and I'm certain that you'll have a fine time."

Doris McRoberts, 674 Bergen Ave., Jersey City, N. J., wrote recently: "I became engaged to Mr. Jack A. Piercy on September 6, and although we haven't set a date for our wedding we are making plans for the future. I am now teaching clothing and foods in an elementary school in Newark, N. J., which, by the way, has one of the largest enrollments in the city. My eighth grade girls are busy making their graduation dresses and it's interesting to watch their enthusiasm and progress."

Dorothy (Madsen) Leustig, 29509 Sylvan Dr., Willoughby, O.

Dorothy (Medlock) Meekin, Penn. Hospital, 8th and Spence Sts., Philadelphia, Pa.: "Since I last wrote, my husband has received his M.D. Degree from the Medical College of Virginia. We are now in Philadelphia where he is interning at the Pennsylvania Hospital, and I am assistant administrative dietitian at the Woman's Medical College Hospital of Pennsylvania."

Maxine (Moore) Hamilton, Route 1, Thomasville, has a son, John.

Maurine Perryman, Cabarrus Hall, Kannapolis.

Ruth (Schohn) Pilling, 683 Main St., Malden, Mass.

Mary E. Sherrill, Dietary Dept., Queen's Hospital, Honolulu, T. H., says: "I certainly enjoyed catching up with W. C. U. N. C. activities in the Newsletter."

Mary (Slade) Purvis is doing secretarial work in Hamilton.

Nell Alice Stephens, X-Ray Dept., Memorial Hospital, Charlotte, writes: "I am still doing X-Ray work with Memorial Hospital, and loving the work and people. I keep up with all the W. C. doings through my sister, Lee, who is a senior there this year."

Carolyn Stout, Department of Physiology, University of Pennsylvania Medical School, Philadelphia, Pa.

Myra Stowe, Brook House, University of New Hampshire, Durham, N. H., started working on her Master's at U. of N. H. this fall. "Work is pretty hard, but a winter in New England is wonderful."

Zana (Studebaker) Wilson is secretary to the purchasing agent of Drexel Furniture Co. in Valdese.

Katherine (Taylor) Stewart, 4264 S. Grant, Englewood, Colo., writes: "My husband began his residency in Radiology at the Veterans Administration Hospital, Fort Logan, Col., in October, 1948, and we are now living in our own home in Englewood, a suburb of Denver."

Mildred (Thorpe) Draper, 520 Eastern Avenue, Rocky Mount: "Our son, Rick, is nearly two now and quite a personality in his own right. I've run into quite a few W. C. girls, some of whom I haven't seen since 1944, at U. N. C. games. It's one of the favorite features of the games! All of the Rocky Mount Alumnae look forward to the News, devour it, digest it, and discuss it thoroughly."

Jane (Tulloch) McNaught, her husband and their two children, Peggy 2½ and John Jr., one year in March, live at 7 Hillside Ave., Bedford, Mass. Mr. McNaught is a chemical engineer with Lever Brothers.

Billie (Upchurch) Miller writes: "Ed and I had a wonderful second honeymoon in Florida and Cuba during November. Imagine my surprise and delight when we ran into Cherry Folger and friend at the airport in Key West, Fla., and found they were taking the same plane. The four of us left not a stone turned as to Cuban night life or Woman's College news. On our trip back to Asheboro, Ed and I had a nice visit with Scott Tyree in Atlanta. Scott, incidentally, is running the Coca-Cola Company in the big city."

Mary Alice Vann, M.D., 107 Hunton Hall, Medical College of Va., 1200 E. Marshall St., Richmond, Va. writes: "Am interning at Medical College of Virginia Hospital now. Beginning in July 1949 I have a residency in Pediatrics at the Children's Hospital of Philadelphia."

Josephine (Whitley) Rex, 819 Demerius St., Durham, is secretary to Dr. W. L. Thomas at Duke Hospital.

Jeanette (Winstead) Morgan, Trailer 58, U. Trailer Ct., Chapel Hill: "I am still working in the scientific supply room at the University and trailer-keeping. Herb is doing graduate work in chemistry."

Marjorie (Wright) Glessner, 5 W. Church St., Bethlehem, Pa.: "We are finally housekeeping after five years of married life. Our daughter (age 21 months) is adapting herself to city living after spending her first 18 months on a farm with her grandparents. I have seen quite a lot of Blanche (Thies) Lenhart '44, who is now living in Bethlehem while her husband is finishing up at Lehigh University. I enjoyed reading all about reunion of class of '44 and was sorry I couldn't attend."

45 Court Ave., Benning Park
Columbus, Ga.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Harris (Eugenia McWhorter Cox) a daughter, Eugenia Cox, July 1948, Honolulu, T. H.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Russell Harward (Eleanor Johnson) twins, a son and a daughter, Benjamin Jr. and Ellen Tuck, August 7, 1948, Chapel Hill.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bench (Dianne Page) a second son, Timothy Page, December 9, 1948, Columbus, Ga.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Penn Marshall (Betsy Warren) a daughter, Julie, December 25, 1948, Raleigh.

Doris Andrew '803 Fifth Ave., Greensboro, is teaching first grade at Bessemer School this year.

Elizabeth (Breedon) McLaurin, 1226 Hagood Ave., Columbia, S. C., writes:

Richard Gray Goff, 19 months, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norvell Goff (Peggy Voss '45), King, N. C., and Edward Allen Finlay, 2, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Finlay, Jr. (Lula Belle Allen '45), Orleans, Mass. The picture was taken at the Goff's recently when the Finlays visited them.

"I'm just one of the many busy housewives, but oh, how I love it!"

Sarah (Dawson) Davis, 131 Hamilton St., Henderson: "See lots of Pauline (McNeny) Johnson, class of '47, and Mary Ann (Cooper) Broughton '45. Pauline has a darling baby girl. Elizabeth (Laws) Lewis is also back in Henderson for the winter, teaching at Henderson Business College."

Shirley (Edgar) Watt, 230 Commonwealth, Flint 3, Mich.

Hallie (Etheridge) Wannamaker and her husband are living in Cheyenne, Wyo.

Anna D. Graham, Saint Mary's School, Raleigh: "I am beginning my fourth year teaching physical education here at Saint Mary's School and Junior College. During the summer I was costumer for the Burnsville Playhouse. It was wonderful to work with Woman's College people again."

Meg (Grant) Ramsey, Box 848, Sylva: "My husband and I left Chicago the last of May after he had received his Doctor of Optometry Degree. We spent the summer with our parents in Marion, and moved to Sylva in August, where my husband, Dr. Donald M. Ramey, has opened offices for the practice of optometry. We were lucky to find a nice apartment in this very progressive town."

Mary (Harrington) Johnson, Welton.

Anne Jesnak received her M.S. Degree this summer at Penn State College. This is her fourth year on the physical education staff there. New address, 228 South Allen St., State College, Pa.

Mary Ellsworth (Jones) Highsmith, Box 505, Wallace.

Marguerite (Laing) Farnsworth, class of '45, Bennett Road, Camillus, N. Y., R.D. No. 1: "After leaving W. C. in June '43 I transferred to Simmons College, Boston, Mass., and received my B.S. in chemistry in June 1945. From then until last March '48 I worked at Massachusetts Institute of Technology as a chemist doing research work under an office of Naval Research contract. Since the studies came under strict security regulations, I am not free to discuss them, but the field is fascinating and I would highly recommend it to more students who are majoring in chemistry. On February 1, 1947, I married Ed Farnsworth, who was completing his studies at the Institute after a six-year interruption during the war. On April 8, 1948, our first child, a boy arrived. We are at last in our own little home here in Syracuse and Ed is a rotating engineer with General Electric Co. at Electronics Park.

Barbara (Latham) Kirksey, 404 N. Green St., Morganton, teaches at the N. C. School for the Deaf. "It is enjoyable work and hours spent there are well worth while. Jack and I are renting a small house now and have a spare room just waiting for a weekend guest from W. C."

Cavalle D. Lentz, Com. '45, care Merchants National Bank, P. O. Box 1229, Mobile, Ala.

have two children, Ann Marie 3½ and Gale 14 months."

Henriette (Manget) Neal, Country Club Apartments, Greensboro, is working in the Alumnae office at Woman's College. She and her husband moved from Chapel Hill early in December. Her experience in the Alumni Office at U. N. C. makes her services most valuable.

Elaine (Miller) Odenwald, 1070 Reaney Ave., St. Paul 6, Minn.: "We spent our vacation fishing in Wisconsin, and I caught one or two myself. Now we plan on three weeks in Greensboro next summer. Ralph will be two in January, so I am busy all the time. We are members of the Woman's Institute, which has a wonderful series of programs and my husband is taking night courses through the Extension School of the University of Minnesota."

Eleanor (Molen) Anderson, 1506 Catalina Ave., Allentown, Pa.

Thelma Payseur is living at her home in Gastonia and teaching eighth grade.

Mary Belle (Price) Coupe, 772 West Onondaga St., Syracuse 4, N. Y.: "Married life and a new job have kept me busier and happier than I've ever been before. Since our wedding in March we've both been gaining weight and Gordon insists it is his cooking! My new job is with Bristol Laboratories, Export Division, very fascinating, and at long last am actually using my Spanish. Betty Styron '45 unexpectedly popped up and we had a brief but very welcomed visit in August. She is working and living in Syracuse."

Jean E. Rosenast, 8757 Harvey Ave., Merchantville, N. J., writes: "After a year as secretary to the president of Oppenheim Collins & Co., Philadelphia, I was offered a position as commercial teacher in my home town high school. I spent a few days with Virginia (Fulp) Petretti '45 and Jane Gardner '45 at Sea Bright, N. J., this summer."

Helen (Roycroft) Rowe, new address: Box 1123 Bradenton, Fla.

Sarah Sherrill, Mount Ulla.

Katherine (Simpson) Ruggles is doing statistical work with the Virginia Agricultural Experiment Station in Blacksburg, Va. Her husband is attending V.P.I.

Mary Jean Smith is with the Economic Cooperative Administration in Paris, France. She is secretary to Ambassador Harriman's political advisor, Mr. Phillip Bonsal. She had an interesting visit to the United Nations General Assembly recently.

Lucy (Stubbs) Mihalic lives at 313 Baker Ave., Syracuse, N. Y., where her husband is an engineer with General Electric.

Doris Stryker, 98 Garden St., Hartford 5, Conn., is dietitian at the Hartford Hospital.

Barbara Sutlive is a member of the faculty at Hillsdale School, Cincinnati, O.

Coline (Thies) McGehee, 103 N. Louisiana St., Abbeville, La.: "Had a grand vacation in N. C. and Va. Saw Jane Wilcox '45, Jackie Boggs '46 and Evelyn Motley '45 in Richmond and Mary Hines (Beard) Sherrod '43 in Sandston. Kitty (Maxwell) Sellars '45 has a lovely new home in Davidson, where Lacy is teaching this year."

Doris (Underwood) Groover, 1685 N. Decatur Rd. N. E., Atlanta 6, Ga.: "I am a secretary in an investment firm, and my husband works for Aetna Casualty and Surety Co. and attends law school at night."

Dorothy Walton lives at 2519 Garrison Boulevard, Baltimore 16, Md., and works with the Y.W.C.A. there.

Jane Wharton is teaching voice at Woman's College after graduating at Julliard School of Music in New York City.

Martha Alston, 700 Baldwin Place,
Norfolk, Va., teaches science in the Blair Junior High School.

Ethel W. Arnold, 138 Melrose Pl., Ridgewood, N. J., says: "I am now a personnel secretary with a large X-Ray corporation in New York City.

The work is very interesting, especially interviewing and the various problems of approximately 200 employees."

Doris (Braswell) Sweetland's new address is 6834 W. 34th St., Berwyn, Ill.

Martha J. Britt writes: "I think the newsletter sent in the last mailing is wonderful—hope the Association will keep this going to the alumnae. It keeps us posted about campus activities as nothing else does."

Gladys (Brumbaugh) Clark's new address is Box 1205, Tallahassee, Fla.
Her husband is with the Burroughs
Adding Machine Co.

Christine Cherry writes: "I'm back at the High School in Fayetteville teaching physical education. I went to Lib Hawley's '45 wedding in Goldsboro October 30th and had a wonderful time. Saw Hope Pate '45, Ann Edgerton '45, Anna Graham '45, and of course Hilda Longest '45 and Betsy Modlin '45 who are teaching here in Fayetteville for the second year."

Ola (Chitty) Duncan, B. T. U., 1B,
N.A.A.S., Whiting Field, Milton, Fla., writes: "My husband came back into the Navy in September and I joined him in Pensacola, Fla., a month later.
He is now an instructor at Whiting
Field and we are living in Milton, Fla. I find myself teaching down here but in a different capacity. I have forty-one students in my fourth grade. The regular teacher met with an accident, so they called on me to try my hand. Believe me, I'd rather have physical education any day, but I do like my work."

Susan Darden is working in Durham.

Mary Louise Duls, 402 Buchanan Blvd., Durham, says: "I have just become engaged to Dr. Howard C.
Duckett of Duke Hospital, Durham.
The date of the wedding has not been set."

Edna C. Flynn, 4206 Walnut St., Philadelphia, Pa., is still working as secretary in the Statistics Department in the Wharton School, University of Pennsylvania.

Edna (Fulp) Pike, Apt. 205 S., Flaret III, Gainesville, Fla.: "Bucky and I are enjoying the warm Florida weather, and have visited many interesting spots near Gainesville. Silver Springs, St. Augustine, Tarpon Springs, etc., have much to offer. My kindergarten and his studies will keep us busy until June, when we expect to be back in N. C. for a while. We are proud to have a nice apartment now instead of our trailer."

Lorraine (Glenn) Simms: "We have organized an Orange County Alumnae Association which ought to prove very active. Toni Lupton Hires '44 is president. We hope that the many
W. C. girls who are on campus, working or living here will join the group.
John is in law school and I still work in the Bull's Head Bookshop. Each

Elizabeth Smith Holland writes: "I am now working for the Chevrolet Motor Division, General Motors Corporation, in Charlotte, as secretary to the organization manager."

Mary Frances (Hunter) Boyd says: "We spent Christmas holidays in Charlotte with my family. I talked with Sue (Smith) Applewhite, who is working in the Child Welfare Department in Wilmington. We took a tour of the campus on our way through Greensboro, and were glad to see Walker Avenue closed.

Lorraine Johnston is employed with the Hercules Chemical Company, Wilmington, Del.

Jane (Linville) Joyner is teaching in Durham while her husband is going to medical school at U. N. C. They live on Rogerson Dr., Chapel Hill.

Annie Laurie Lowery writes: "After a 'dream' summer, Edna Earle Bullock and I are back in Goldsboro again. This summer we spent part of our vacation traveling across the U. S. to California. In Mexico we truly had some rare experiences with our 'southern neighbors!' The middle of July found us playing in the snow, high in the mountains of Montana and southern Canada. Washington, Oregon and western Canada certainly are prize winners as far as scenic beauty is concerned! Recently Iris Kiger visited me. It is really good to have a good old W. C. session."

Nancy Loyd is still working in Chapel Hill at Medical school. Address, 202 Vance St.

Correne (McQuague) Whatley, 43 Presnell St., Asheboro, writes: "Emerson and I have acquired a five-room house and have really had a wonderful time fixing it up. Last month we had an alumnae meeting here, the first the county has had since I've been here. The only other ones present from the Class of '46 were Maxine Templeton and Henry Luther Menius. We all had a wonderful get together."

Annic (Mitchell) Cannady lives at 287 Gholson Ave., Henderson, N. C.

Orrell (Moody) Clark, 336 Asheboro St., Greensboro, says: "Carl and I have been living in Greensboro for more than a year. He is a buyer for Sears, Roebuck and Co. and I have been working as a secretary at the Federal Housing Administration for the past few months."

Bettie Jane Owen is Head of the Department of Physical Education at Greensboro College.

Dorothy Perry is back at Vassar College, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., this year after a summer at camp in Maine.

Billie Gene Phipps, Box 154, Dahlgren, Va., is still working as a statistician at the U. S. Naval Proving Ground.

Margaret Prongay, 212 W. Bank St., Salisbury, attended an alumnae meeting in Salisbury and was delighted to find six 1946 graduates present. She lives with Nancy White and teaches second grade.

Frances (Richardson) Wolfe, 3195 Lee Ave., Midway Park.

Myra (Siff) Levin '46, 19 Everett Street, Apartment 4, Cambridge, Mass., sends the following:

Marriage: the possibilities of the institution are incredible.

Births: Babies are the most delightful addition that I can think of to a household.

Deaths: An alley cat was killed by an automobile while looking straight ahead crossing Everett Street, which proves that no matter who you are, you should look both ways before crossing a street.

Additional study: review course in nursery rhymes.

Travel: down Everett Street, crossing Mass. Avenue and turning to the left; then following straight to the park pushing a baby carriage.

Club work: occasionally at the bridge table when husband trumps my ace.

Honors: occasionally, but more often a bust.

Etc.: infinitely.

Jo (Singletary) Babre, 1015 St. Julian St., Charlotte.

June Smith, new address: 318 Elmwood Ave., Ithaca, N. Y.

Dorothy (Spruill) Haltiwanger is now living at 6906 8th St. N. W., Washington, D. C. Her husband is doing graduate work in physics at the University of Maryland. Dorothy plans to do social work.

Carol M. Street is "studying education and graduate English at U. N. C., Chapel Hill. After working two years decided to get a certificate and try teaching."

Caroline (Summerlin) Barbee, Apt. 26, English Garden Apts., 1222 Fauquier St., Roanoke, Va., writes: "In the new English Garden Apartments there are two other Woman's College alumnae, Mary Jane (Lucas) Miles '47 and Virginia (Wimbush) Patterson, Com. '35. Of course, our conversation always includes Woman's College days. Both Mary Jane and Virginia have mighty cute new babies."

Zoe Swecker, Room 318, International House, 1414 E. 59th St., Chicago, Ill., writes: "I'm devoting myself to studying in the department of history here at the University of Chicago. It's hard work, but satisfying."

Lucile Tegg, 1009 Johnson St., High Point, says: "I am getting a big thrill out of being in on an experiment in violin choirs being conducted in the High Point Elementary Schools. Much talking has been done about the need for more string players in our schools. We are doing something here."

Kathryn Tilley, Apt. 2, 101 Hudson St., Raleigh, left the alumni office at State College to become secretary to the Forestry Division at State College.

Joanna Tucker, 5722 First St., N. W., Washington, D. C. writes: "I am still with the Public Library here in Washington—desk supervisor and reference assistant in the children's room of one of the major branches. Have been back to Greensboro twice this year, in the spring for the wonderful reunion, and in the fall to be maid-of-honor for Jane (Street) Oldacre. Carol Raper, Winnie Yount, Ann Macdonald and I were among those present at the annual dinner meeting of the Washington Alumnae chapter. We know there are more '46ers here but what happened to them? They really missed a good get-together."

Celeste Ulrich, Madison College, Harrisonburg, Va., writes: "After teaching at Woman's College for the summer (and it was wonderful to walk through the campus again), I headed on a westward camping trip, around 9,500 miles in a little over a month, and had lots of interesting and exciting experiences. I'm now back at my job, enjoying teaching all the more. Run into Margaret Reynolds '47 and Eva Ruth Parrish '48 rather frequently. After attending the Social Science Forum I am more convinced than ever in the soundness of the educational philosophy of Woman's College."

Margaret R. Carter lives at 7 Cleveland Ave., Martinsville, Va.

Mildred (Carter) Carlton, writes: "Betsy (Ivey) Sawyer '46 and I attended the New England W. C. Alumnae meeting held a few weeks ago in Boston. It was grand to hear another 'Southern drawl' and more wonderful to read Dr. Jackson's Founder's Day address. Both Betsy and I are trying to get acclimated to the hustle and honkings of a big city, six lane traffic, etc. I'm studying pencil sketching in addition to housekeeping, cooking, and working daily ('cept Sats) at the Guided Missile Library at M. I. T. Betsy is delving into opera appreciation, saying that she couldn't work Mr. Thompson into five afternoon labs in the tree study!"

Betty Brown Denny, address: 305 Hall Ave., Burlington, N. C.

Nancy Cromer, 51 D. Elizabeth Rd., Hampton, Va.

Doris Due, St. John's Lane, Ellicott City, Md., writes: "Back at Lisbon teaching P. E. to seventh through seniors, boys and girls. Just managed to wangle hockey equipment for the girls. Enjoying also teaching health and current events. Marvelous summer, after teaching for Red Cross, drove to Florida for two weeks and fine home."

Daphne Eller is teaching Home Economics in Stoneville. She was on campus December 11, 1948. Last summer she attended American Home Economics Convention in Minneapolis, Minn.

Patricia Elliott, 54 Cobane Terrace, West Orange, N. J., writes: "I am now living at home, having finished a year of graduate work at Penn State College. Started working at the National Union Radio Corp., in Newark, N. J., in the personnel department about three weeks ago."

This year I've been appointed as coach of the girls ski team—of course I can just about stand up on skis. The only thing I don't like about teaching in Vermont is that it's so far away from North Carolina and Woman's College."

Jane Terry, 70 Chase St., Newton Center, Mass., entered Andover Newton Theological School in September to begin work on degree of Master of Religious Education. "I enjoy seeing Pat McBrien '47, my W. C. roommate, occasionally. Pat is a nutritionalist with the Boston Visiting Nurse association."

Hilman Thomas, 2706 Anderson Rd., Raleigh, writes: "I have been working in Washington, D. C., since the middle of January for Senator

William B. Umstead. Nell Koonce '43 and Carolyn Harwood '45 were here in the office for a while. It is extremely interesting work and an experience I shall never forget. We all really worked hard during the campaign. Right now I am having a big time seeing and doing everything that Washington has to offer. I will return to Raleigh around the first of the year to work."

Jean (Will) Spencer, The Highlands, Apt. 400, Washington, D. C.

Lucy Wolfe is minister of music at Main Street Methodist Church, Reidsville. "Besides playing the organ there and directing two choirs, I have a piano class. I also still come over to W. C. once a week for an organ lesson with Mr Thompson."

DEVOE PAINTS

Featuring the
2-COAT SYSTEM

This Devoe 2-Coat System doesn't try to saddle or shirk. There are two definite jobs for outside paint to do, and Devoe does them. Each coat does its specific work. The first coat locks the pores of the wood like iron, seals it against sucking up life-giving oils. The second coat is built to laugh off ultra-violet sun rays and weather, still sparkles after several years.
